LIGHTING Place your poinsettia by a well-lit window where it can get sufficient sunlight (east-facing window, if possible). Avoid direct contact with the window pane.

WATERING Water the poinsettia with room-temperature water whenever the soil feels dry or the leaves start to wilt. Allow the water to drain out the bottom, but do not let the plant sit in water.

TEMPERATURE & HUMIDITY Poinsettias prefer warm rooms with temperatures between 65-75°F. Keep away from drafty locations or fireplaces. Dramatic temperature drops will cause wilting.

INTERESTING FACT What most people consider the flower is actually a group of modified leaves (bracts).
